Kevin Hart Architecture is pleased to announce the promotion of Tim Morshead to Associate in the firm. A key designer at KHA since its founding 5 years ago, Tim has worked on the firm's projects in California and China, contributing his ideas, energy and skill to the office and on behalf of our clients.

Tim's many projects include the new athletic center at Menlo School, due to open in August; a high-rise residential tower in Chongqing, China; "The Center" at Lick-Wilmerding High School; and a conference center for Congregation Sherith Israel. Tim is a registered Architect in the state of California, and a LEED Accredited Professional certified by the U.S. Green Building Council.

Prior to joining KHA, Tim was a designer at Daly Genik in LA, where he worked on the Camino Nuevo Charter Academy; and a designer at Architectural Resources in Cambridge, MA where he worked on the Joseph B. Martin Conference Center and New Research Building for Harvard Medical School. He graduated Magna Cum Laude from University of Colorado, where he studied Architecture and Molecular Biology. He earned a Masters in Architecture from MIT in 2004, where he was awarded a Full Presidential Scholarship, an AIA Certificate of Merit and the Karofsky Prize for Outstanding Master of Architecture Student in 2002-2003.

We are proud to recognize Tim's contributions with this promotion.
